DETAILED ACTION

Claim Status: 1-50 rejected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C 102(e) as being anticipated by Underwood (US Patent No. 6,633,878).

1. Regarding Claims 1, 12, 22, 33, 34, 36, 38, 39, 42, and 45, Underwood discloses a method for database configuration migration, the method comprising:

receiving an instruction to hold constant a configuration of a first database(see column 24, lines 49-53, Underwood);

implementing a change in a configuration of a second database (see Fig. 21.1, 2102, column 72, lines 50-52, Underwood);

storing a configuration change transaction record based at least in part on the change in the configuration of the second database(see Fig. 21.1, 2104, column 72, lines 52-55, Underwood);

sending the configuration change transaction record; and implementing a change in the configuration of the first database based at least in part on the configuration change transaction record (see Fig. 21.1, 2106, column 72, lines 56-61, Underwood).

2. Regarding Claim 2, Underwood discloses a method wherein the first database includes first configuration data and a first plurality of data records (see column 25, lines 38-41, Underwood).

3. Regarding Claims 3, Underwood discloses a method further comprising holding constant the first configuration data based at least in part on receiving the instruction to hold constant the configuration of the first database (see column 27, lines 61-67, column 28, lines 1-4, Underwood).

4. Regarding Claim 4, Underwood discloses a method further comprising modifying one or more of the first plurality of data records (see column 83, lines 60-67, Underwood).

5. Regarding Claim 5, Underwood discloses a method further comprising adding one or more data records to the first plurality of data records (see column 44, lines 45-57, Underwood).

6. Regarding Claim 6, Underwood discloses a method further comprising deleting one or more data records of the first plurality of data records (see column 53, lines 63-67, Underwood).

7. Regarding Claims 7, 10, and 23, Underwood discloses a method wherein the first database includes first configuration data, a first plurality of data records, and a first audit log (see column 72, lines 58-64, Underwood).

8. Regarding Claim 8, Underwood discloses a method wherein the second database includes second configuration data and a second plurality of data records (see, column 72, lines 58-64, Underwood).

Art Unit: 2171

9. Regarding Claim 9, Underwood discloses a method wherein implementing the change in the configuration of the second database includes modifying the second configuration data (see Fig. 21.1, 2106, column 72, lines 56-61, Underwood).

10. Regarding Claims 11, and 48, Underwood discloses a method wherein implementing the change in the configuration of the second database includes modifying the second audit log based at least in part on implementing the change in the configuration of the second database (see column 72, lines 58-64, Underwood).

11. Regarding Claims 13, 14, 38, 40, 44, and 46, Underwood discloses a method further comprising a step for creating a configuration change transaction record based at least in part on the changed configuration of the second database (see column 11, lines 35-43, Underwood).

12. Regarding Claims 15, and 16, Underwood discloses a method further comprising storing the configuration change transaction record (see Fig. 9.2, Underwood).

13. Regarding Claims 17, 37, 43, and 49, Underwood discloses a method further comprising holding constant the configuration of the first database prior to changing the configuration of the second database (see column 230, lines 9-15, Underwood).

14. Regarding Claims 18, and 50, Underwood discloses a method further comprising creating a configuration change transaction record based at least in part on the changed configuration of the second database (see column 86, lines 60-67, Underwood).

15. Regarding Claims 19, 27, 35, 41, and 47, Underwood discloses a method wherein the configuration changes transaction record is stored in a transportable file format (see column 16, lines 8-13, Underwood).

Art Unit: 2171

16. Regarding Claims 20, 21, 28, and 29, Underwood discloses a method wherein the configuration change transaction record is sent from a host server to a remote server, the host server coupled to the second database, the remote server coupled to the first database (see Fig. 51, 5100, column 21, lines 8-9, Underwood).

17. Regarding Claims 24, and 26, Underwood discloses a system wherein the second database is based at least in part on a copy of the first database (see column 84, lines 16-20, Underwood).

18. Regarding Claim 25, Underwood discloses a system wherein the first database is a first instance of a database and the second database is a second instance of the database (see Fig. 72.2, 7236, 7238, Underwood).

19. Regarding Claims 30, and 31, Underwood discloses a system wherein the configuration change transaction record is stored on the server (see Fig. 18.2, 1802, Underwood).

20. Regarding Claim 32, Underwood discloses a system wherein the first configuration data of the first database is modified based at least in part on the configuration change transaction record (see column 30, lines 19-27, Underwood).
